

Online Appendix for

Measuring the impacts of COVID-19 on job postings in Australia

using a reweighting-estimation-transformation approach

Kailing Shen, Australian National University

Bledi Taska, Burning Glass Technologies

Figure A1. Sample Size of Current Population Survey, Thousands

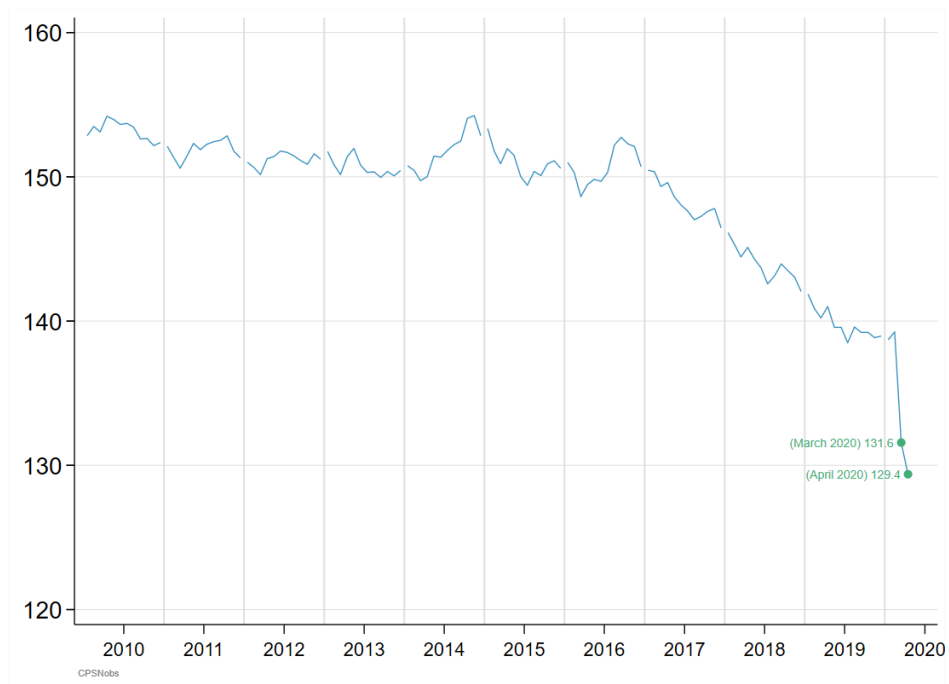

Figure A2. Sample Size of Canadian Labour Force Survey, Thousands

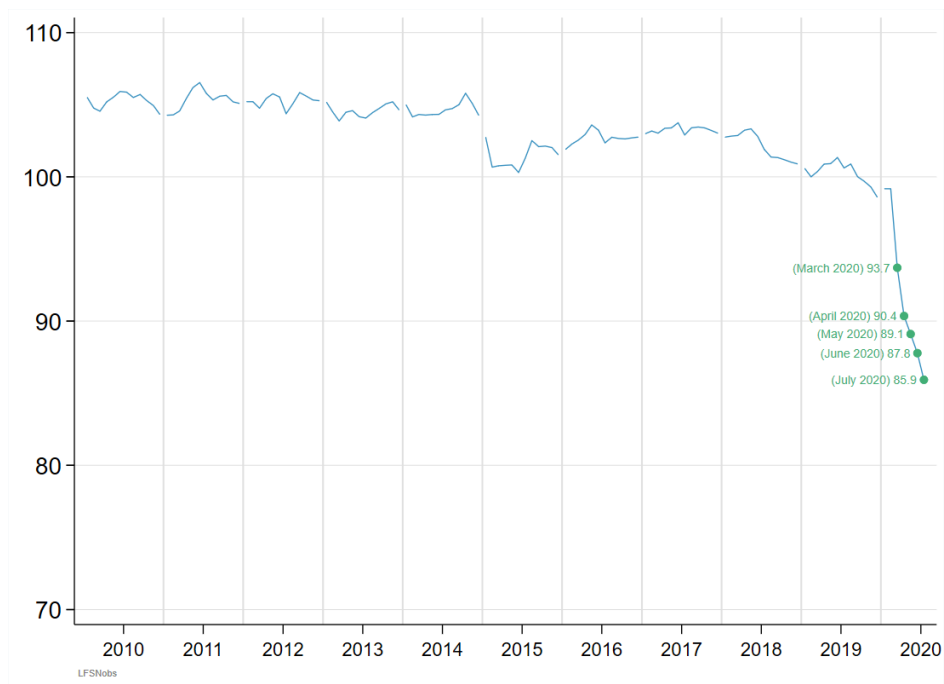

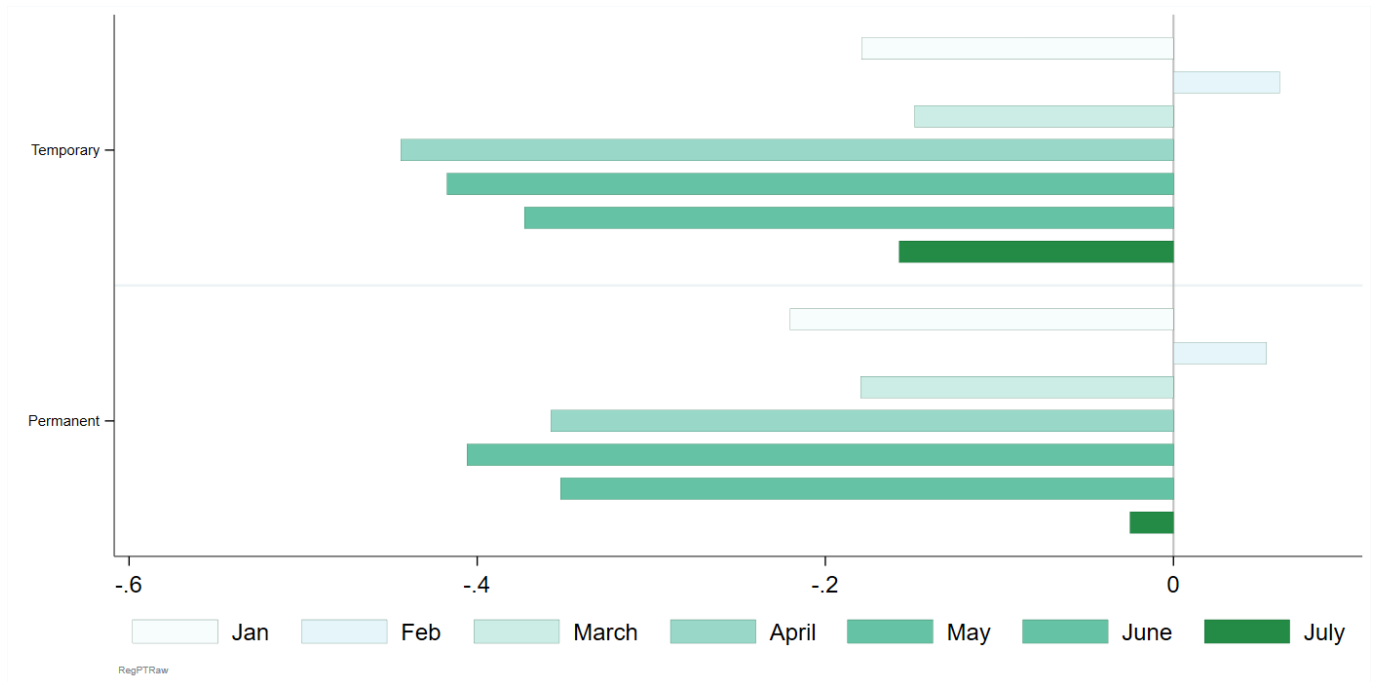

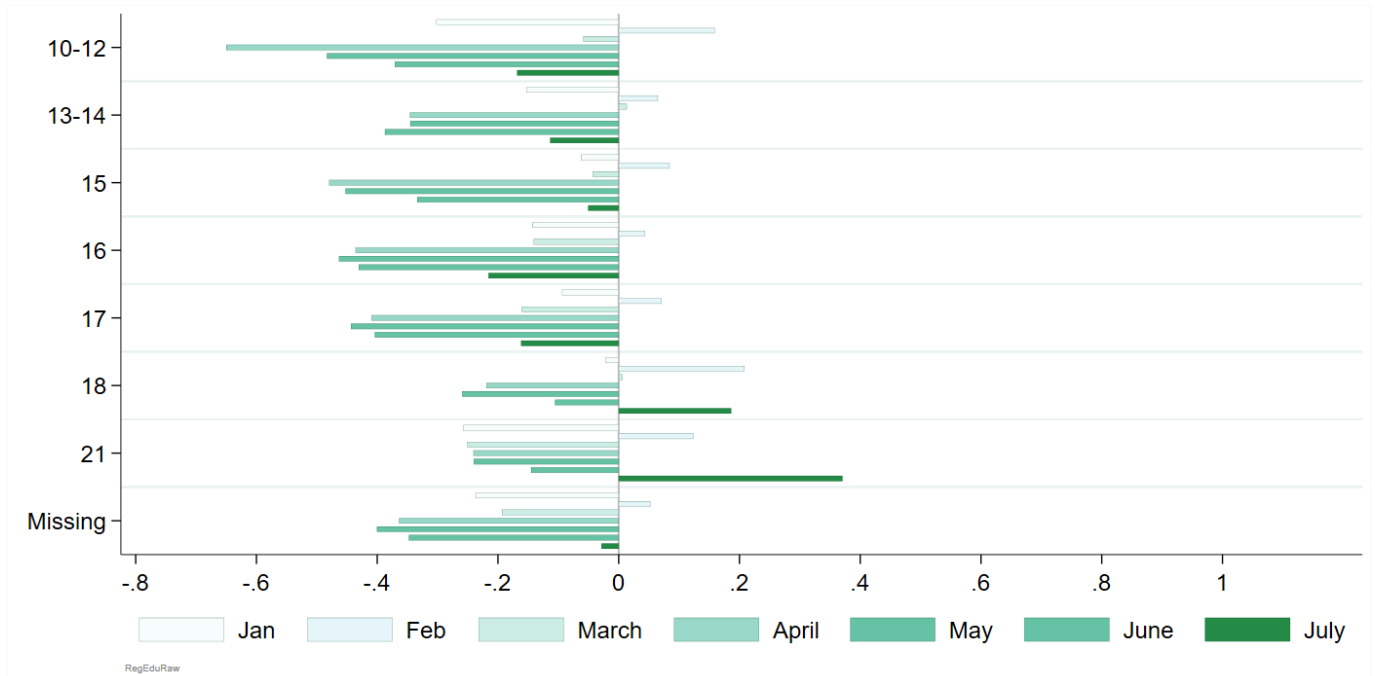

Figure A3. Percentage Changes of Raw Number of Job Postings Relative to 2019, 2020
Jan to 2020 July

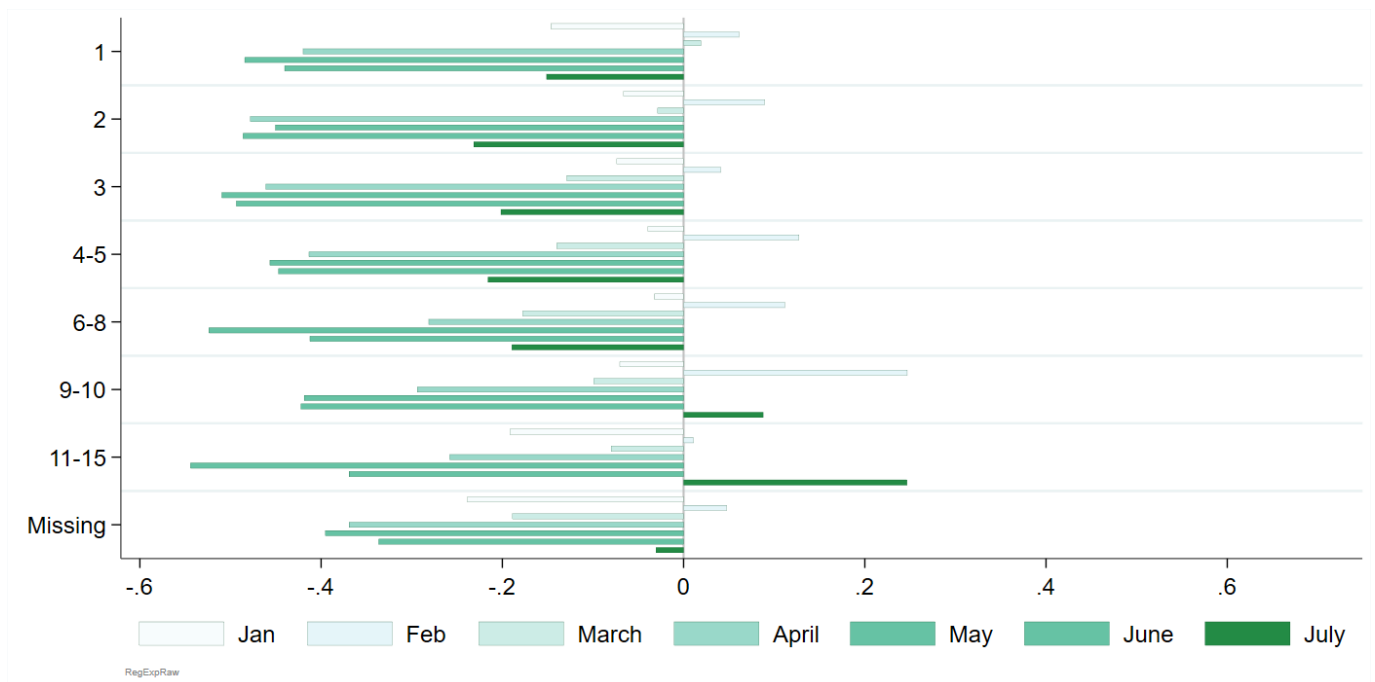

(1) Temporary and Permanent Jobs

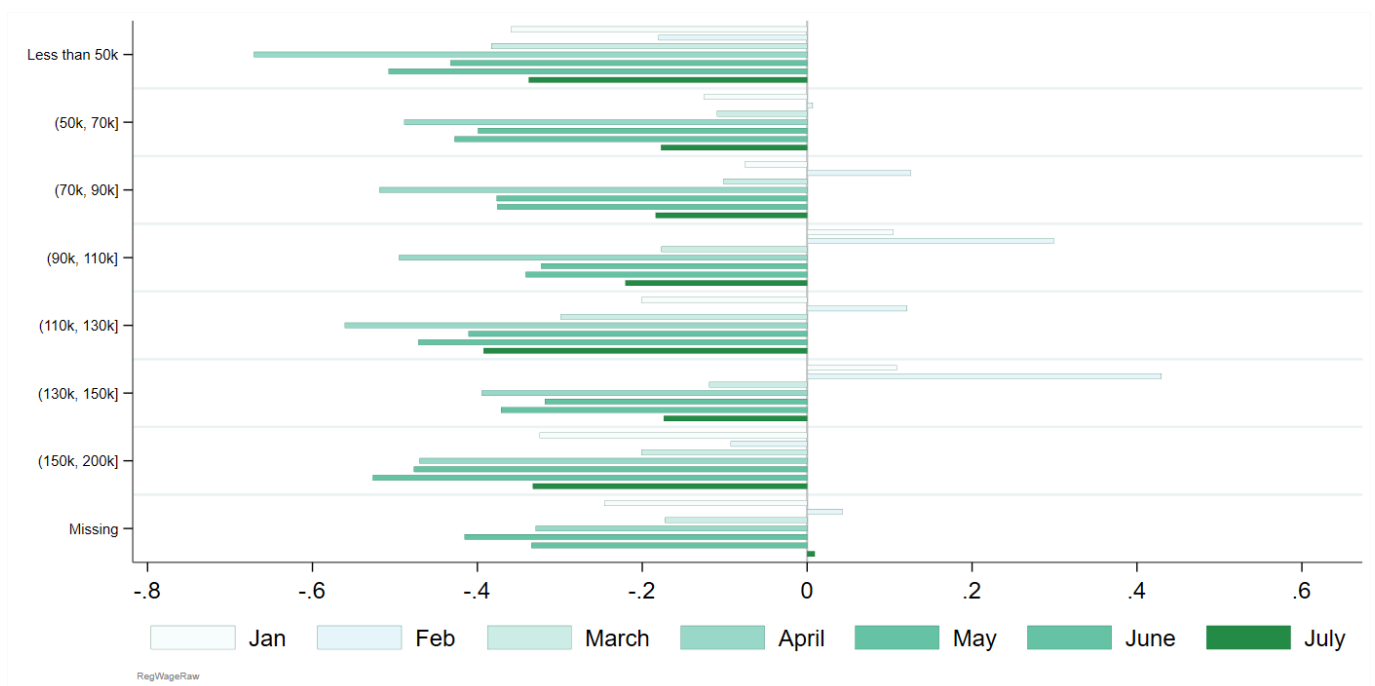

(2) by Years of Education Required

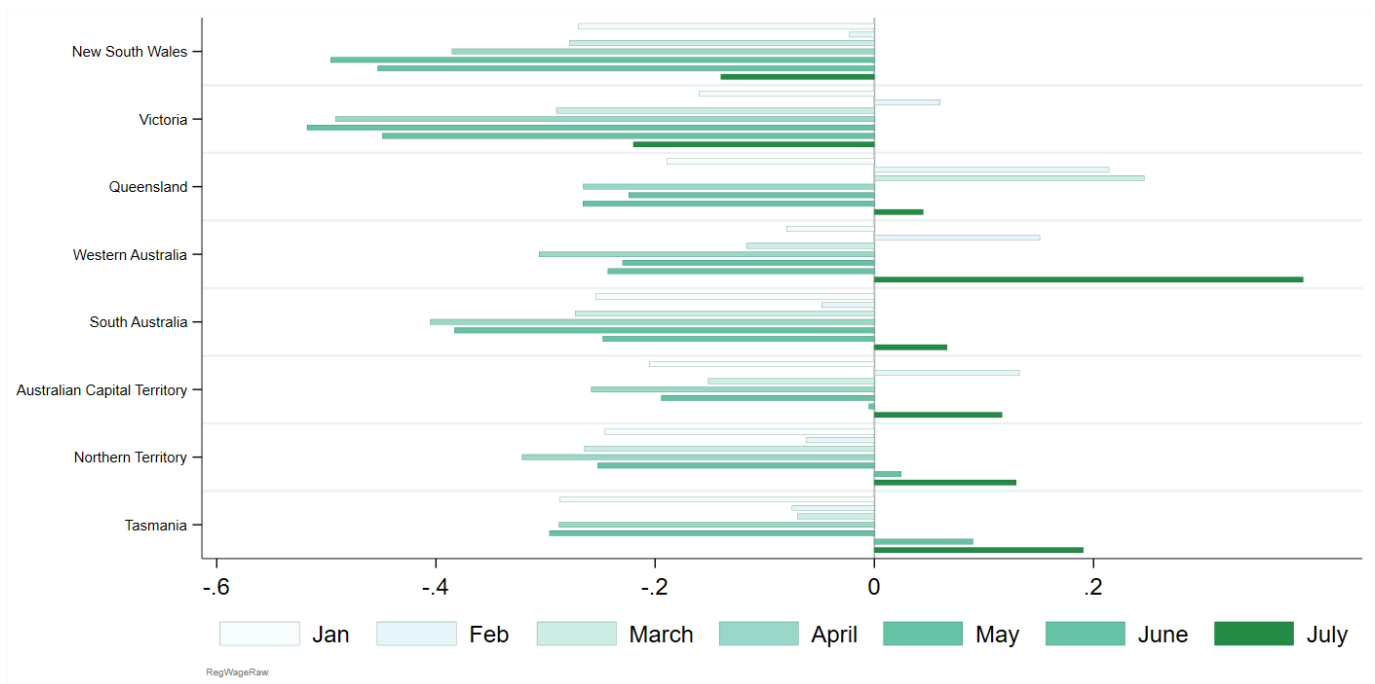

(3) by Years of Experience Required

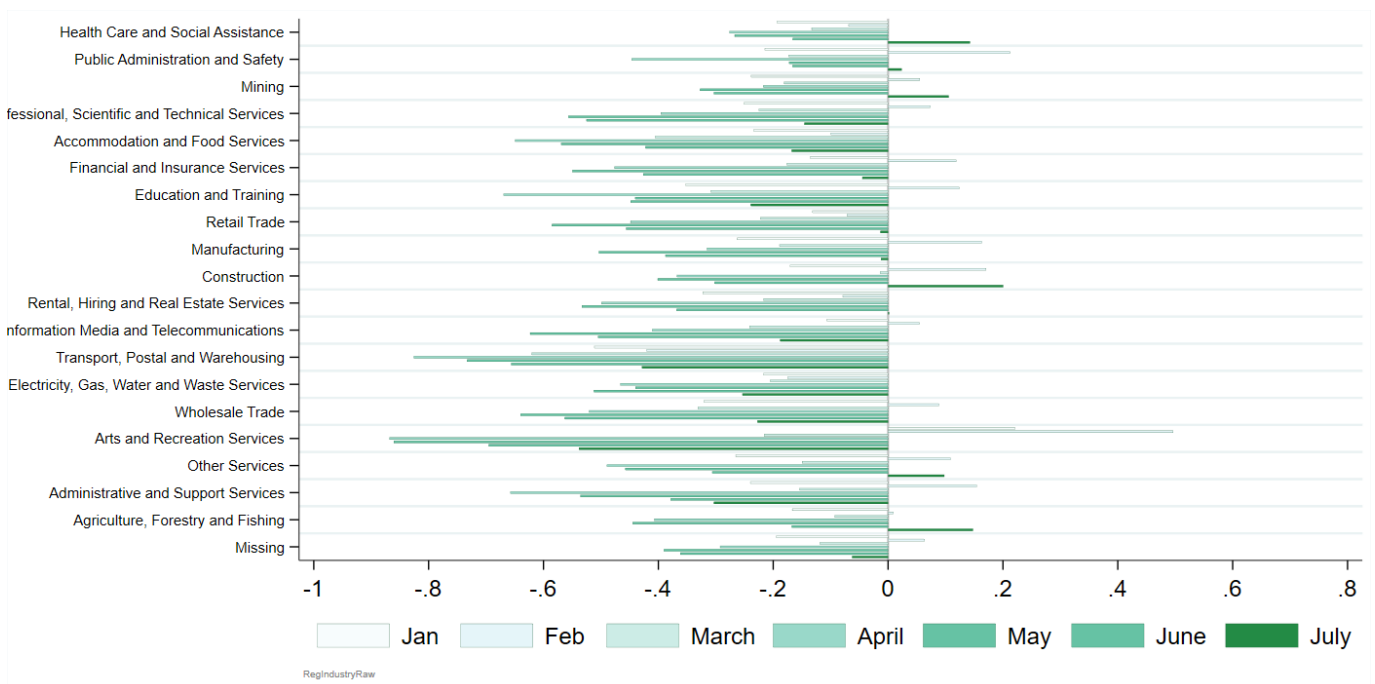

(4) by the Minimum Annual Wage Offered

(5) by State

(6) by Industry

(7) by Occupation

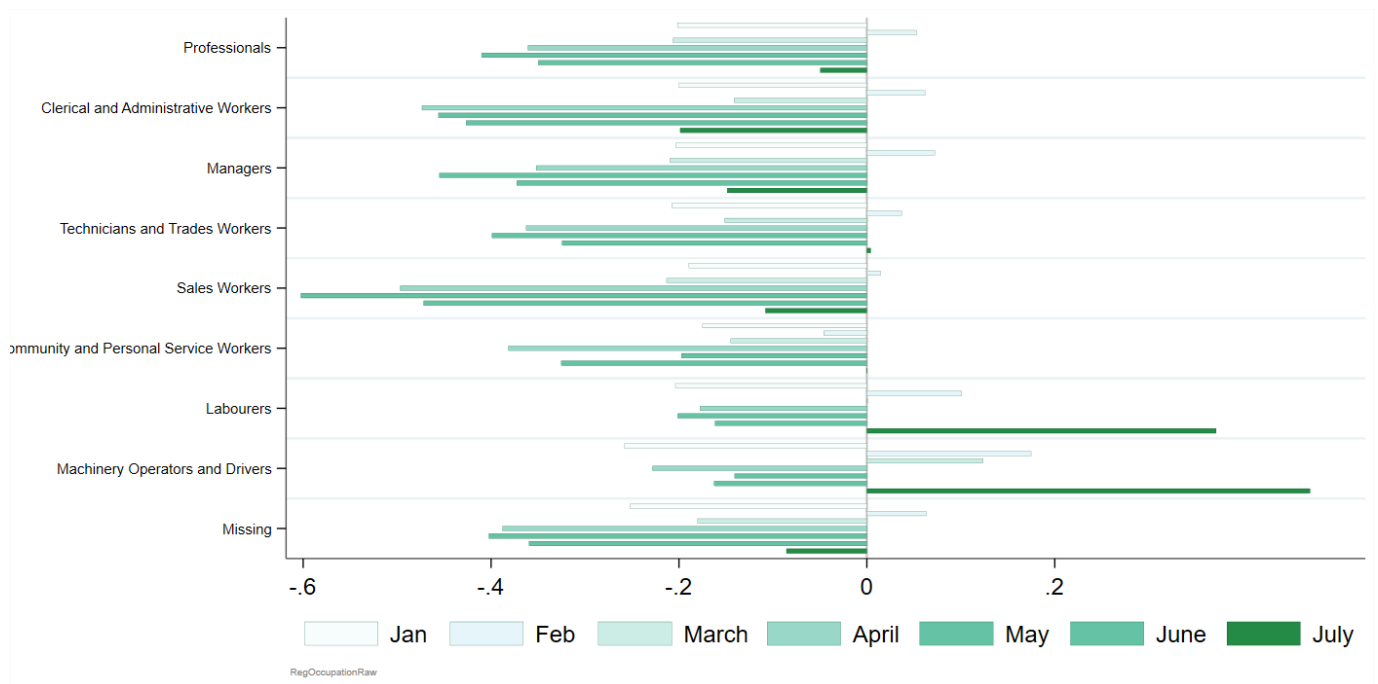

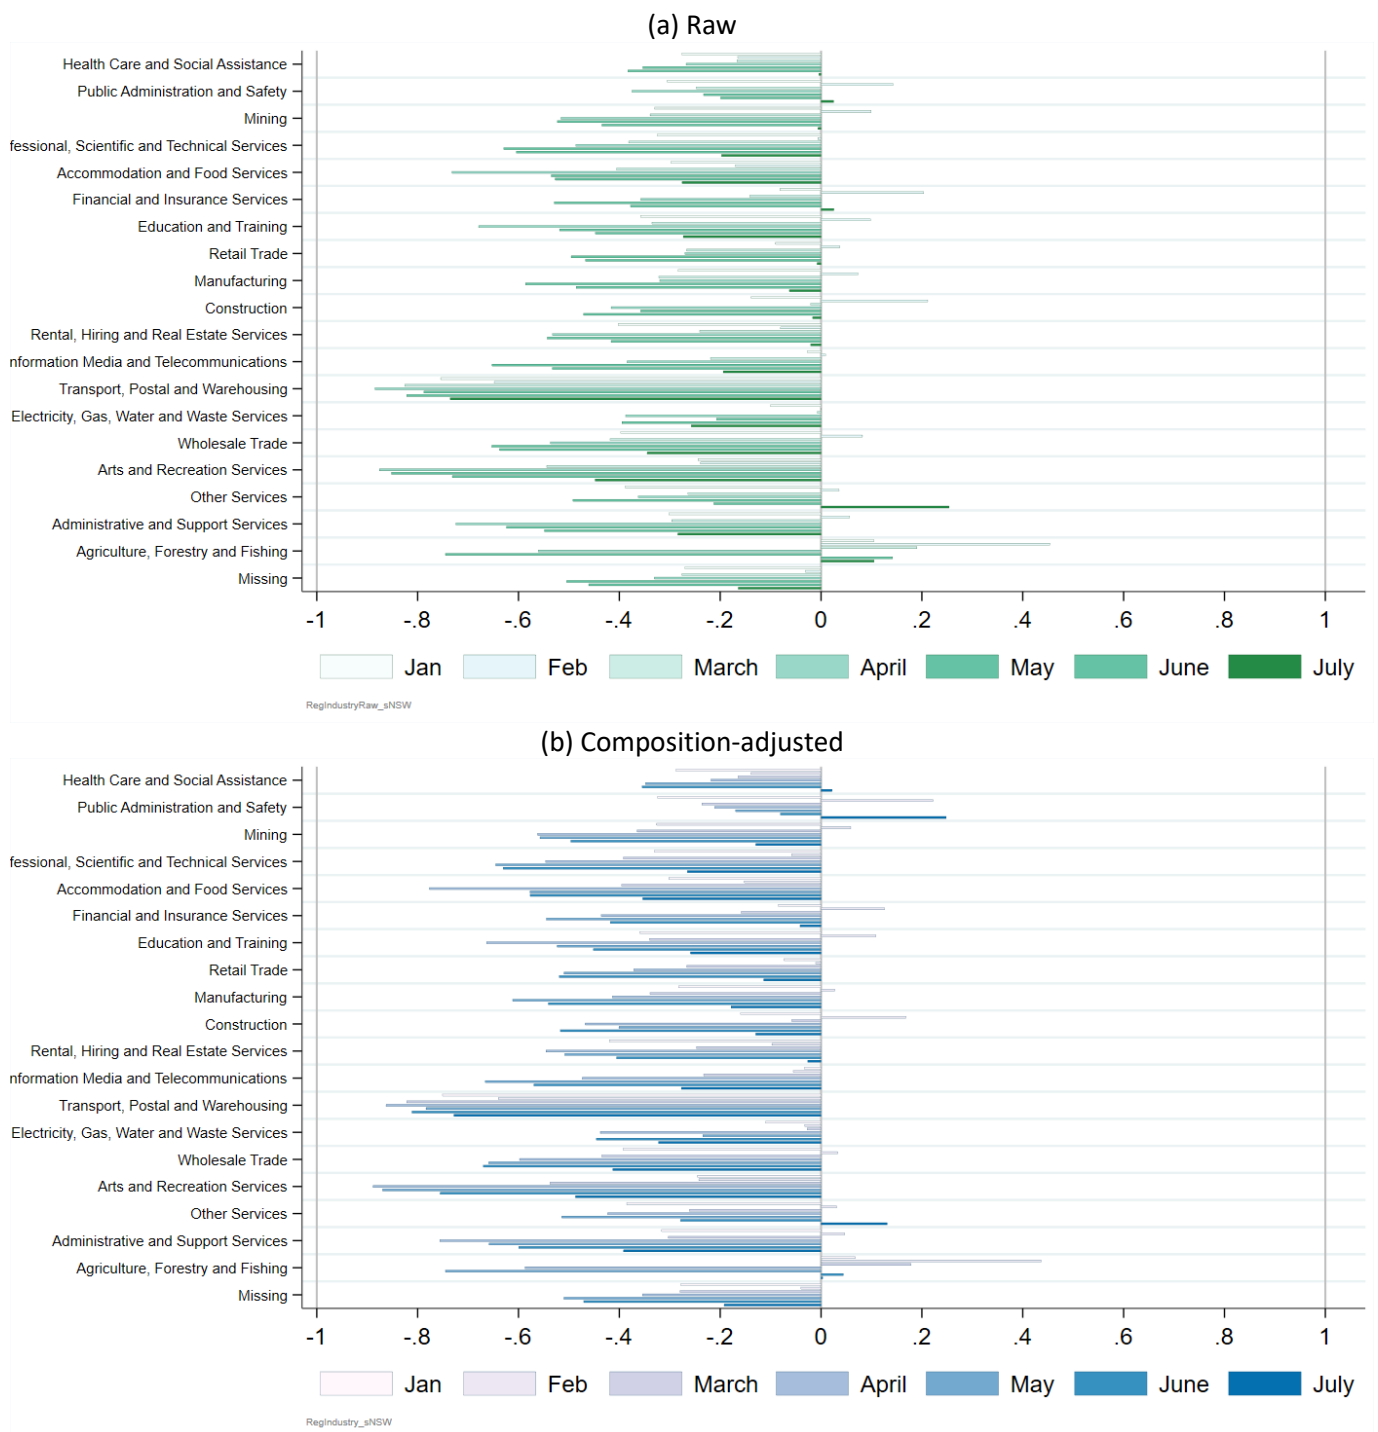

Figure A4. Percentage Changes of Number of Job Postings Relative to 2019, 2020 Jan to 2020 June: by State*Industry

(1) New South Wales

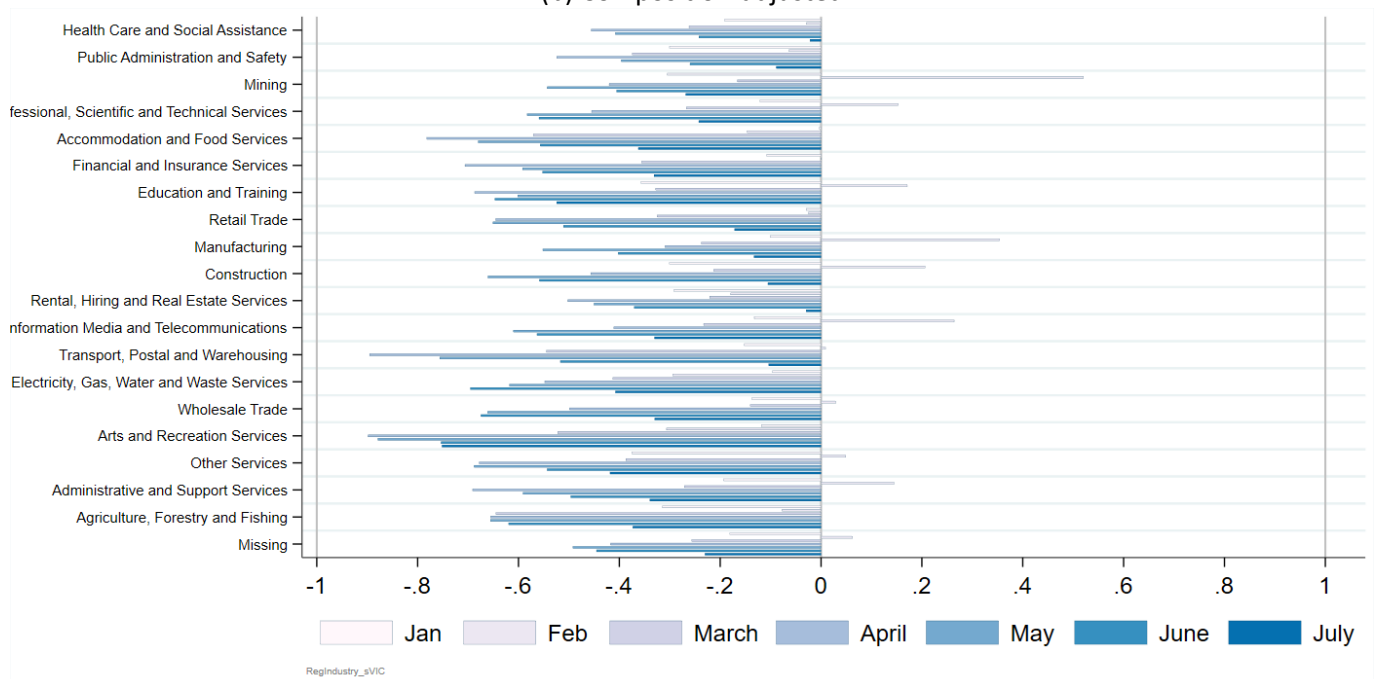

(2) Victoria

(a) Raw

(b) Composition-adjusted

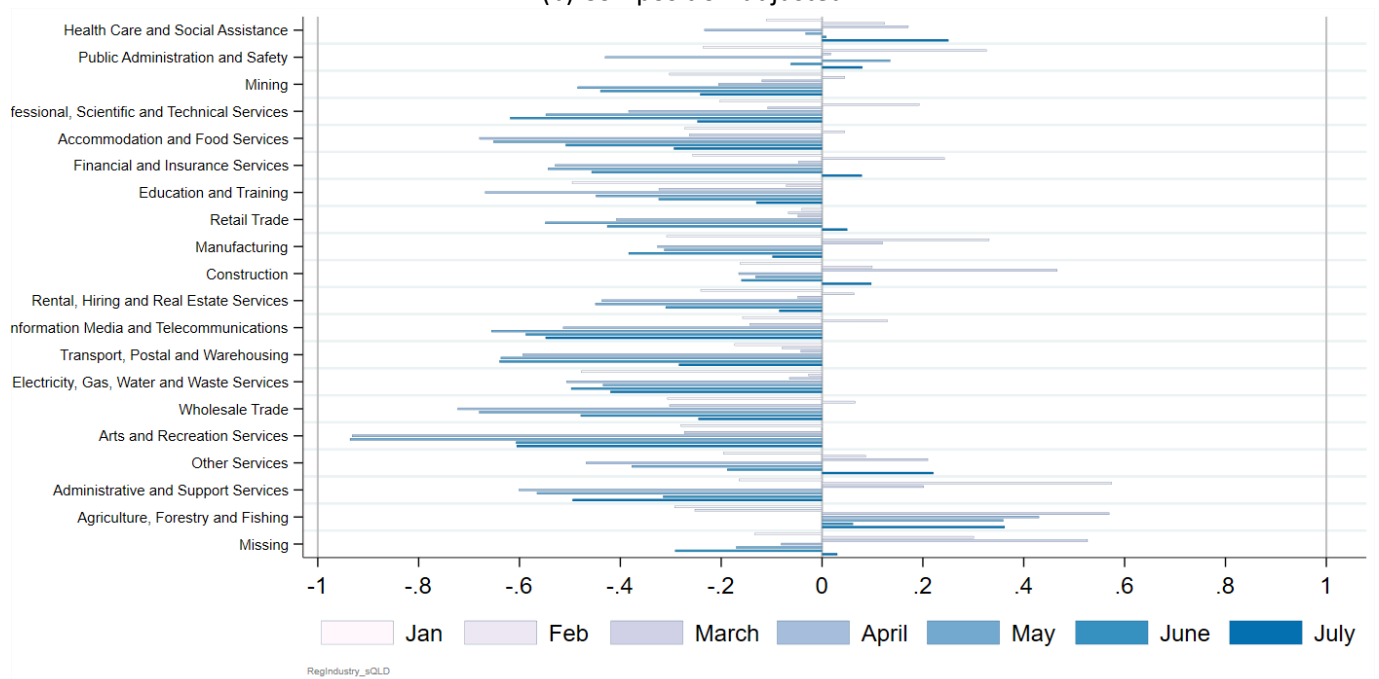

(3) Queensland

(a) Raw

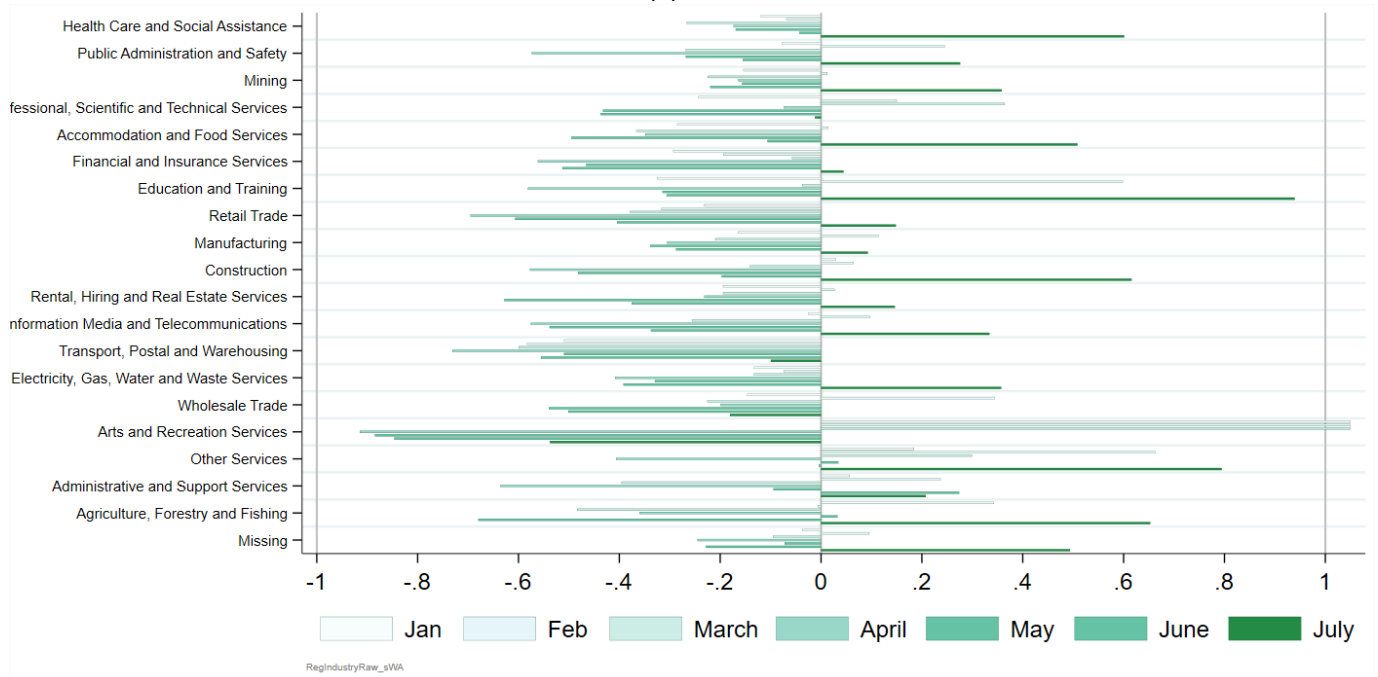

(b) Composition-adjusted

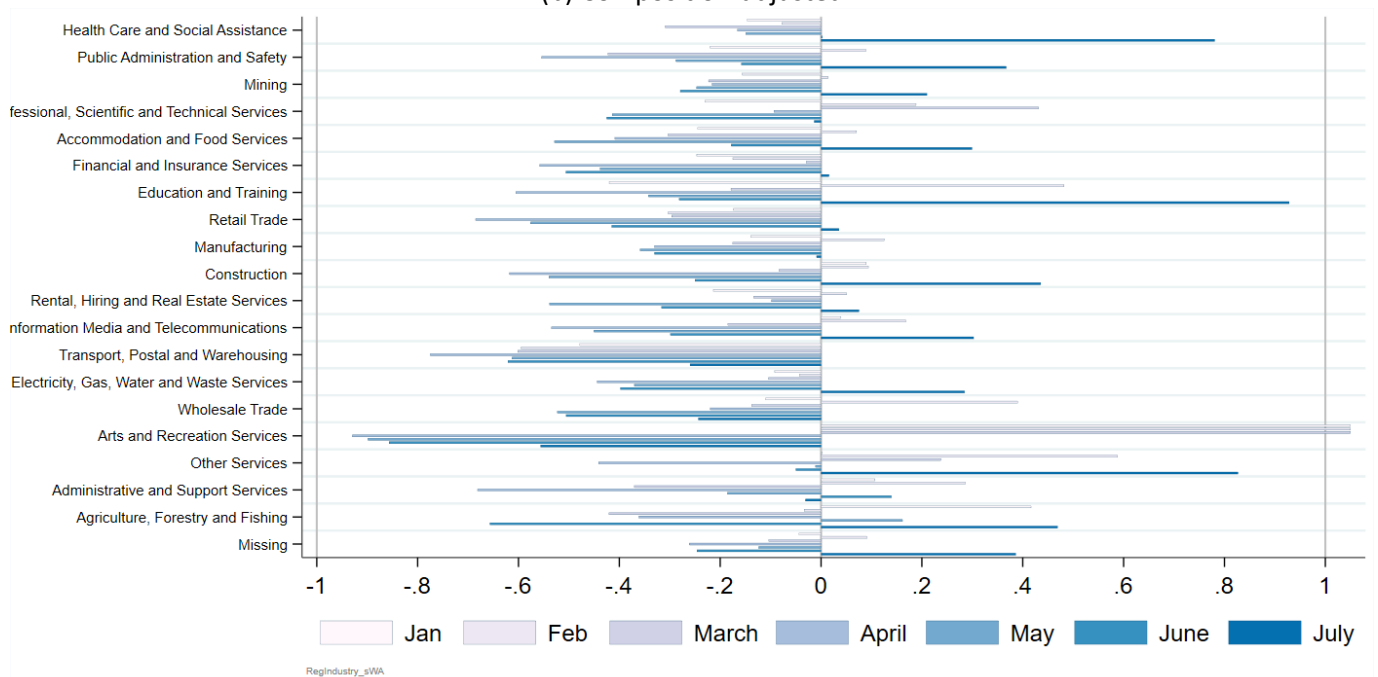

(4) Western Australia

(a) Raw

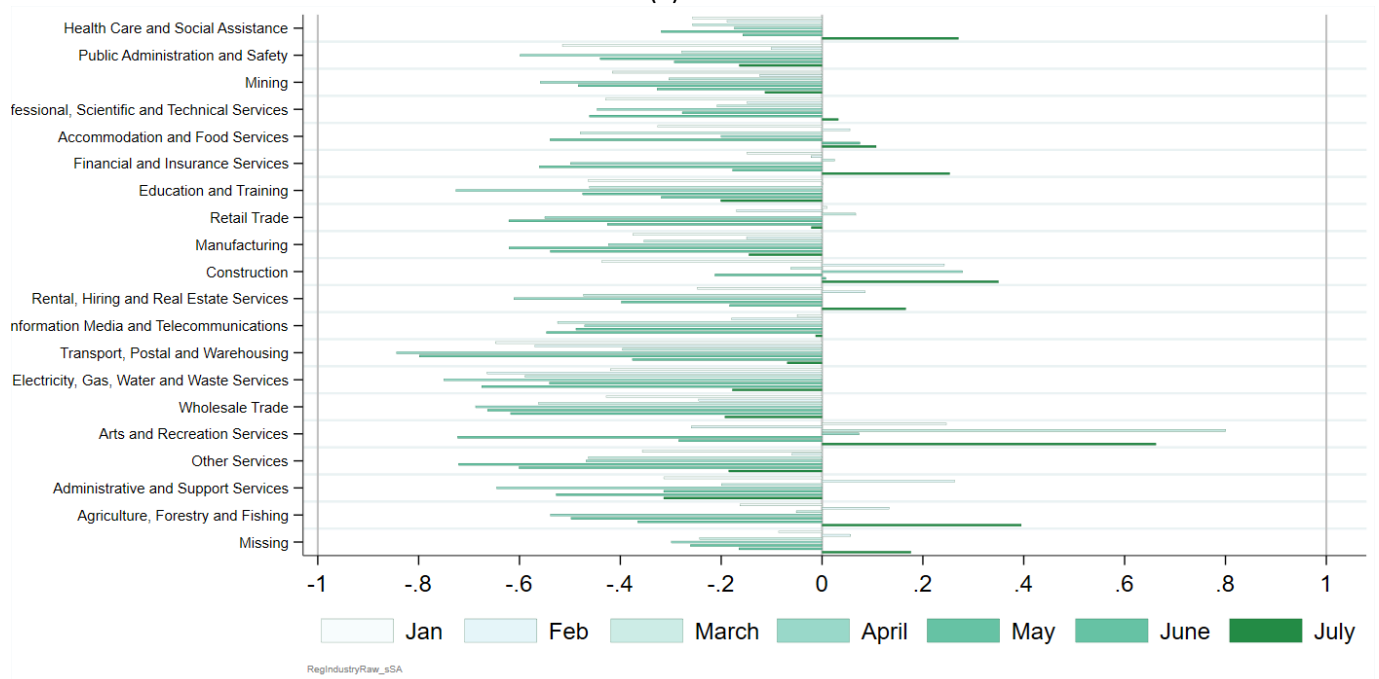

(b) Composition-adjusted

(5) South Australia

(a) Raw

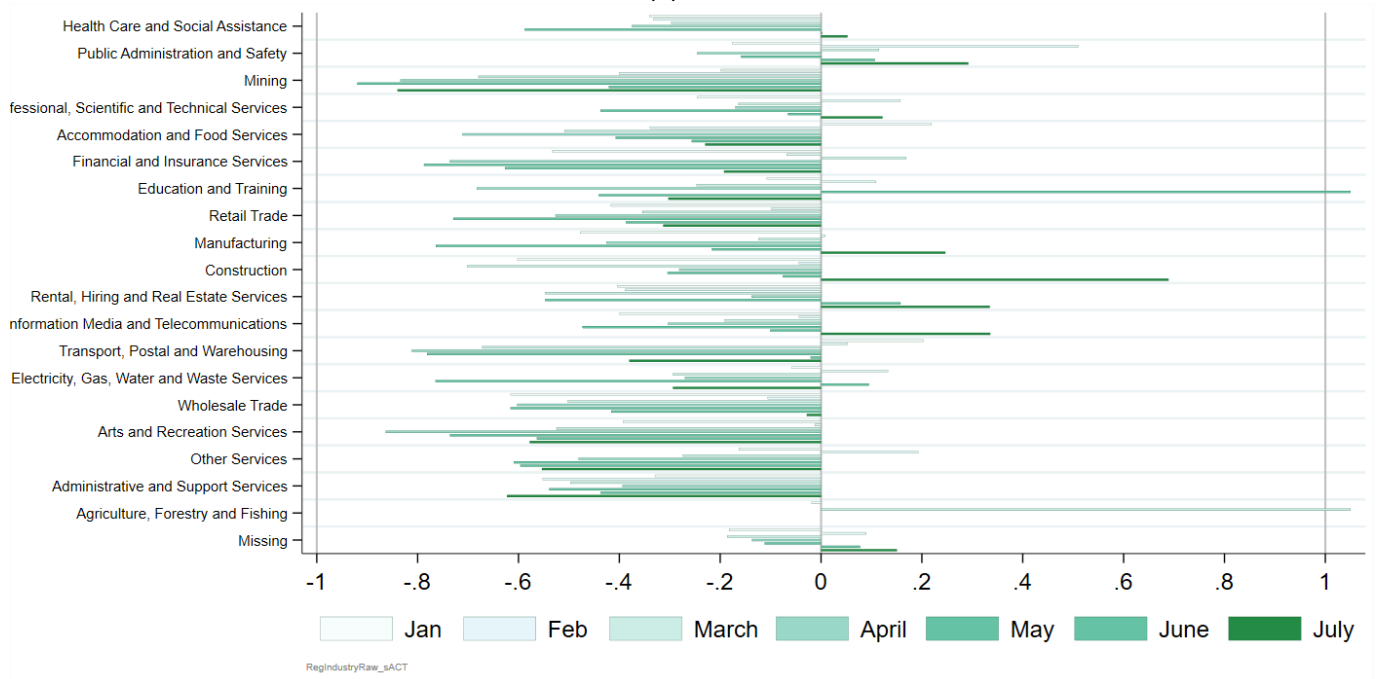

(b) Composition-adjusted

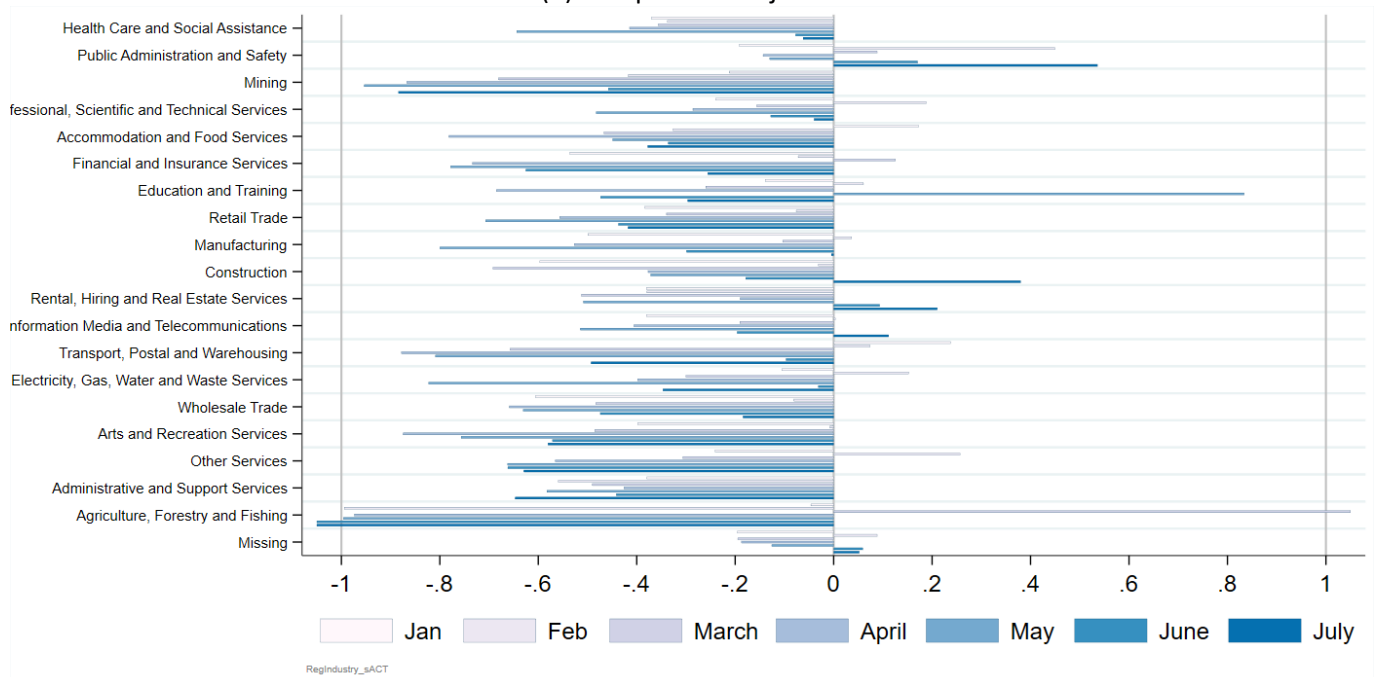

(6) Australia Capital Territory

(a) Raw

(b) Composition-adjusted

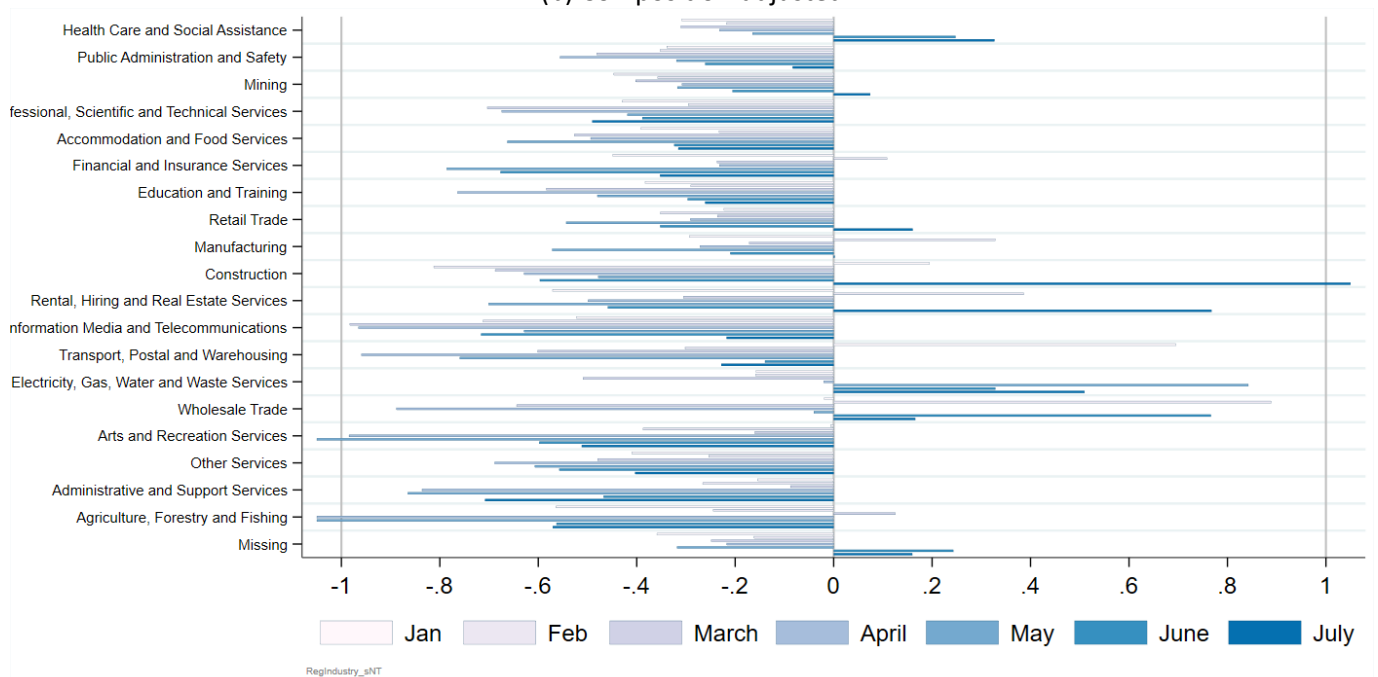

(7) Northern Territory

(a) Raw

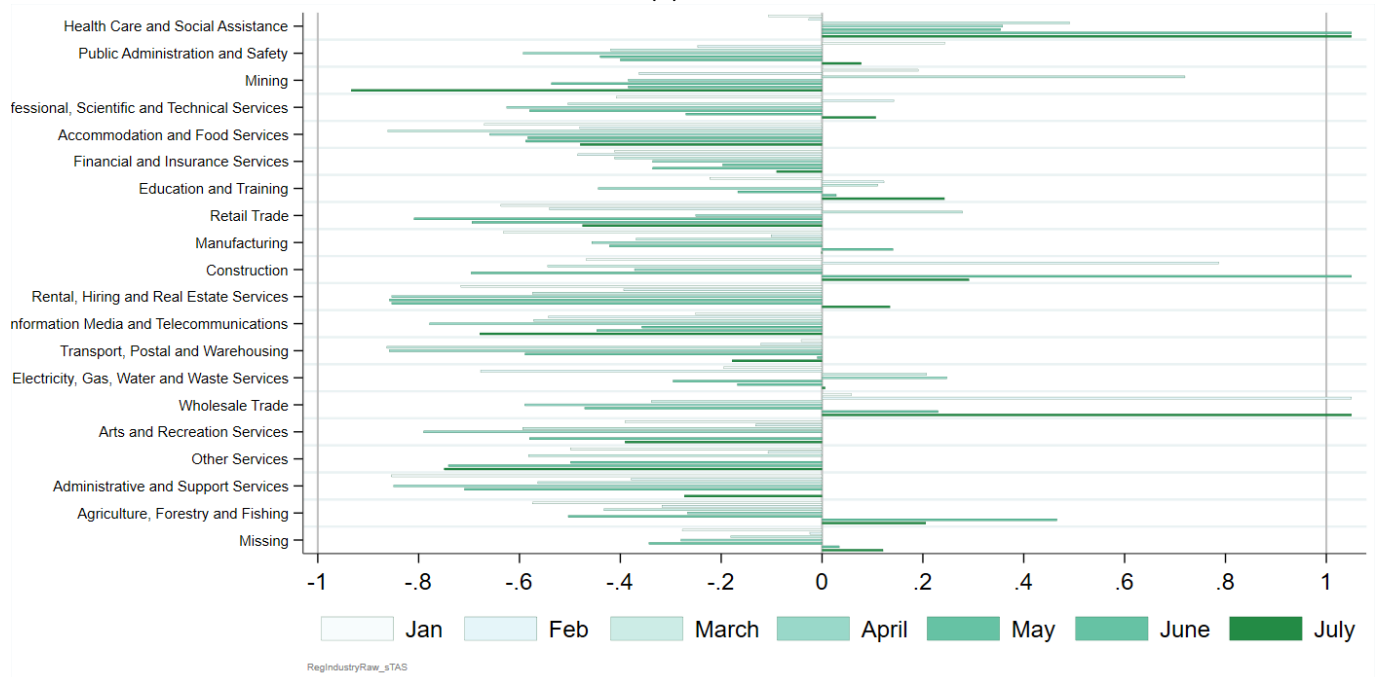

(b) Composition-adjusted

(8) Tasmania

(a) Raw

(b) Composition-adjusted

